COTTAGES BURNED AT HEDDING CAMP GROUND

$50,000 Damage from Fire Starting from Unknown Cause--
Two Portsmouth People Lose Their Summer Homes--
Dynamite Used to Save Town

Between sixty-five and seventy cottages at the Hedding Camp Grounds at Hedding, were destroyed last evening in a fire which threatened to wipe out the entire town. The loss is estimated at $50,000. Among those destroyed all were vacant for the winter with the exception of four. Of these, one was the property of Charles L. Simpson, formerly of Portsmouth, and a brother-in-law of Goodwin E. Philbrick. Mr. Simpson and his family were at the cottage when the fire started, intending to remain at Hedding until next month when they had planned to return to their winter home in Florida. Charles E. Jenness of 437 State street, this city, was also one of those whose cottages were destroyed. The other occupied cottages were owned by A. P. Wilton of Methuen, Mass., Edwin Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., and Leslie Perkins of Hedding. There was no loss of life.

The fire broke out shortly before 5.00 o'clock in the cottage of Dr. Ira Chase of Haverhill, from unknown causes. The Chase cottage had been vacated last Friday and so far as is known has not been visited since. The flames spread rapidly through the closely settled avenues, burning all the houses on Perkins avenue, Adams avenue, Broadhead avenue, Hedding avenue and the east side of Cass avenue.

Owing to the fact that the water supply had been cut off on the first of the month the apparatus from Exeter, Newmarket and Epping, which was called on for help, were unable to do more than work against the fire with buckets. Hundreds of volunteers from these towns did all possible to help the townspeople to check the fire.

Dynamite Employed.
As the fire continued to gain it was at last decided to attempt the use of dynamite. Several of the cottages in the path of the flames were dynamited under the direction of Chief James Whittier of the Epping fire department.

ment and George Carter of the Exeter department. Under the direction of other firemen back fires were started and in this manner the spread of the flames was checked at the Whitney cottage on Cass avenue.

Burned More Than Three Hours

It was not until 10.50 o'clock that the fire was under control, nearly four hours after the blaze was started. The firemen were obliged to cut the electric light wires as poles in the grounds were burning down, allowing the live wires to play about among the crowds of firefighters. All during the summer while the Camp Grounds are occupied, a good supply of water is available, pumped by gas engines. There are a number of hydrants in the circle but these were dead as the water had been turned off. The use of hand extinguishers and chemical engines was of slight benefit. Aid was asked from this city but no apparatus was sent when it was learned by Chief Woods that hose and engines would be of no assistance.

The cottages in the grounds were moderate in value, ranging from $600 to $1500 in cost of construction. Many of those destroyed had been but lately repaired and added to, considerable money having been spent about the camp this past season in the way of improvements. In the section burned over, everything went flat, not a timber being left standing.

Among the owners of destroyed cottages are Charles L. Simpson and Charles E. Jenness of this city; Mrs. Hedding was the first of its kind in Lewis E. Fogg, formerly of Portsmouth, New Hampshire, having been founded J. F. Felt, at one time, pastor of the by, fire, but the blaze tonight was the Methodist church here, and Mandeville was in its history. In 1891 several Moore of Lawrence, Mass., a son of cottages were destroyed, and again in Mrs. Moore who formerly lived on 18-1206 about 20 cottages were lost by lightning street, in Portsmouth, and Mrs. Mrs. Samuel Diamond of Haverhill, also a former resident of Portsmouth. The tonight were several cottages which cottages of Frank Philbrick of Portsmouth, located on Cass avenue, was the Dawson and Jones houses.

STEAMER AFIRE REACHES PORT

Payal, Azores, Oct. 5.—The Italian steamer Milazzo, from New York, September 24, for Genoa, arrived at this port with fire in three of her holds.

(Special to The Herald)

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 5.—Unable to leave their beds, two aged priests were burned to death today in a fire which destroyed the Christian Brothers' college, a noted Catholic institution of this city. An attendant was badly injured when he jumped from the fifth floor of the building and four students were carried out overcome by smoke. The dead are Brother Cornack, aged 91 years, and Brother Clement, aged 80 years. Both priests were bedridden and the flames prevented rescue parties from gaining their rooms.

Twenty firemen were buried shortly before noon today when a wall of the college of the Christian Brothers collapsed. Six of the firemen have been taken from the ruins.

Noland, the attendant, who leaped from the fifth story when he found that he could not reach the rooms of the aged priests, died from his injuries.

The fire which commenced at 7.30 in still raging and it is feared all the college buildings will be destroyed.

AN EXPOSITION OF THE FALL AND WINTER COAT STYLES

Loose coats, belted coats and large collars, might tersely describe the basic ideas of the Fall fashions in coats, but from these ideas have been designed other clever and distinct styles.

Some of the smartest coats are of fine pile fabrics and these models are invariably fur trimmed. In the wool fabric coats, collars are either of self material or trimmed with a narrow band of fur, though entire collars of fur vie in smartness with those of the self material or light fur trimming.

We invite you to test the style and price advantages we offer in our coat department.

RED SOX IN READINESS FOR OPENING GAME

Record Breaking Crowd Is Expected to Witness Saturday's Contest.

(Special to The Herald)

Boston, Mass., Oct. 5.—All is in readiness for the opening game of the world's series at Braves' field. The champion Red Sox are being kept on edge by Manager Carrigan. A team of the Red Sox went to Worcester today to take part in an exhibition game for the benefit of the old time National league umpire, John H. Gaffney. The remarkable interest shown in the opening game indicates that the Braves' field will hold the largest number of persons that ever attended a world series game. From the announcement of the rival managers "Babe" Ruth will open the battle for the Red Sox while "Rube" Marquard will do the twirling for the Brooklyn champions.

The city is getting in step in the world series excitement for on all sides one hears baseball talk and the respective merits of the contesting teams. The Red Sox are a ten to seven favorite. The hotels announced that they have received requests for reservations far in excess of any previous year. Baseball fans today made an early rush to Fenway Park to get grand stand seats for Saturday. Before noon 3000 were in line. Out of town parties who have made request for reservations may not hear until tomorrow as there has been some delay owing to the illness of Secretary Riley.

ROUMANIAN FORCES ARE DEFEATED

In Their Invasion of Bulgaria,
But Escape by Hasty Flight
Across the Danube.

(Special to The Herald)

London, Oct. 5.—The Roumanian army that crossed the Danube and invaded Bulgaria has been defeated in battle, but the Roumanians escaped. The Bulgarian war office in Sofia estimated the strength of the Roumanian invading force at fifteen or sixteen battalions. The war office received a dispatch stating that the Roumanians escaped by a hasty flight before the encircling movement of the Germans could be accomplished. The home press announced: "It is denied in Bucharest that Austrian monitors destroyed the bridge across the Danube by which the Roumanians crossed into Bulgaria."

NEW HAMPSHIRE BAPTISTS UNITE

Both Branches Accept Provisions of Act of Legislature.

Laconia, Oct. 5.—Both the New Hampshire Baptist convention and the New Hampshire Yearly Meeting of Free Will Baptists voted to unite into one common organization at the annual business meeting of the two denominations held yesterday. The vote was on the question "to take action on the proposed legislative act to unite Baptist and Free Baptist into a common organization," and the proposed act is as follows:

"Section I. The name of the New Hampshire Baptist convention is hereby changed to United Baptist convention of New Hampshire.

"Section II. Said corporation shall have power to receive and hold property, real and personal, for all the purposes and subject to all the provisions of said acts to an amount not exceeding eight hundred thousand dollars instead of five hundred thousand dollars as provided by chapter 218, Session Laws of 1913.

"Section III. The constitution of the United Baptist convention is hereby provided for equal rights and privileges of membership therein to members of Baptist and Free Will Baptist churches of New Hampshire.

"Section IV. Said United Baptist convention of New Hampshire is hereby authorized to hold and administer as trustee in accordance with the terms of the trust and in accordance and property or funds now held or hereafter held which shall be entrusted to it by any Free Will Baptist church in this state or by the New Hampshire Yearly Meeting of Free Will Baptists. And said churches and the New Hampshire Yearly Meeting are hereby authorized to make such transfers."

This important step was not taken by either of the denominations in New Hampshire until after careful consideration and investigation both by committees appointed and by the convention and yearly meeting in session.

DEER AND BEAR ARE PLENTIFUL

Game Prospects Appear Favorable for Fall Shooting.

Concord, Oct. 5.—Reports received from the state wardens by Commissioner George A. McIntire of the fish and game department indicate that deer and bear are unusually plentiful in New Hampshire this fall. The wardens say that also there is an unusual large number of woodcock in evidence this fall. Partridges seem rather fewer than usual, but Commissioner McIntire does not think this means there will be less killed this year, as the weather at present is so warm that the partridges are browsing in the fields instead of in the places where the hunters usually look for them.

When the frosts set in for keeps, then the partridges will have to go after the birds on the trees, where they can now pick up all the berries they need in the fields. Quite a number of bear have been killed already in the north country and while the bear is not so popular with the sportsman as the deer and birds, it is expected a record number will be bagged this fall.

The law is off on all the game that is not entirely protected, such as elk, caribou and gray squirrels, except deer. Deer will cease to be exempt in Coos county after October 16 and that will be the only hunting ground for them until November 1 when Grafton and Carroll counties will be open ground. The other seven counties will be unsafe for deer after December 1, for 15 days and after December 16, the deer will have another respite from the hunters until next October.

Portsmouth Testimony Remains Unshaken.

Time is the best test of truth. Here is a Portsmouth story that has stood the test of time. It is a story with a point which will come straight home to many of us.

Mrs. John Smart, 172 Gates St., Portsmouth, says: "About nine years ago I first began to suffer from kidney complaint. I had sharp pains through the small of my back which at times changed to a dull, grinding ache. Whenever I exerted myself in any way, the pains were more severe. I was tired all the time, lacked ambition and in the morning always felt worse. Having reason to believe these symptoms were caused by my kidneys, I tried various kidney medicines, but without getting the least benefit until I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Phillips' Pharmacy. Judging from the results they have already given, I am convinced that they will eventually cure me." (Statement given June 27, 1911).

On October 21, 1915, Mrs. Smart said: "I can still continue to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills very highly. They have given me permanent benefit."

School Pupils in Great Peril

Lebanon, Oct. 5.—In view of the fact that two accidents—one of them fatal, have happened since the new school building on Seminary Hill was opened for the fall term, steps will have to be taken to safeguard the children as they leave the grounds.

Since the death of Paul Collins, the seven year old boy, who was fatally injured on the afternoon of Sept. 19, a teacher or janitor has been on guard to see that the children crossed the street in safety, but notwithstanding this fact, Roscoe Brown, another boy, less than eight years of age, came near being killed. Warning signs have been ordered by the school board and will be placed in conspicuous places in the vicinity of the building, which will, of course, lessen the danger as far as the automobiles are concerned, but will not protect the children from dodging in front of them.

EVEN CROSS, SICK CHILDREN LOVE SYRUP OF FIGS

If feverish, bilious, constipated give fruit laxative at once.

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste. When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomachache, indigestion, diarrhea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can't easily after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeiters sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

KEEP SECRET THE MONEY PAID TO MARION MOONEY

NEWBURY GIRL SAID TO HAVE REJECTED AN OFFER OF $25,000 TO SETTLE.

Newburyport, Oct. 4.—The $30,000 breach of promise suit brought by pretty Marion S. Mooney of Newbury against Alfred F. Ordway, aged 70, a retired Haverhill shoe manufacturer, was brought to a sudden halt today when attorneys for the plaintiff and defendant, at the opening of the superior court, declared Ordway had settled by paying to Miss Mooney a sum of money. Just how much was paid was kept secret.

One report said she had declined, through counsel, an offer of $25,000. The case was of considerable interest to persons of northern Essex county, as both Miss Mooney and Mr. Ordway are well known. The trial of the case had been set for today and 25 or more witnesses were gathered at the court house ready to testify. The case was to have been heard before Justice William F. Dana.

BRITISH CLOSING IN ON BAPAUME

Russian Gunboats in Flank Attack on Bulgars.— Allies Capture Village on Western Front

London, Oct. 4.—The village of Bapaume, three miles from Bapaume, was completely occupied by the British last night in a resumption of the Somme offensive. Gen. Haig reported this afternoon.

The British lines were pushed forward into the village several days ago, but the Germans, clinging tenaciously to several houses, these were cleared of the enemy in last night's fighting.

Russian Gunboats Join Battle Along Danube.

Petrograd, Oct. 4.—Russian gunboats have steamed down the Danube river and are bombarding the Bulgarian left flank near Rasova, in Dobrudja. It was officially announced today.

The Russian warships are co-operating with the Russo-Rumanian forces now attacking Field Marshal Mackensen's army south of the Constantinople railway. The battle is going on along the line extending from Rasova through Kabaden to Pervell.

On the Austro-German front stubborn battles are going on in the region of Bulnov, near Chelovoy, and near Korynka. The enemy is retaining his positions along the river Conlowa, near the source of the Zlota Lipa, with the greatest stubbornness.

Attack Rumanians from Three Sides.
London, Oct. 4.—The Rumanian army that crossed the Danube into Bulgaria is under attack from three sides.

Small Bulgarian forces, detached from the garrisons at Rusechuk and Silistra, advanced against the invaders from west and east, while German, Bulgarian and Turkish forces, moved up from the Varna railway, began a frontal assault. The battle has been raging since Monday, with the result still in doubt.

At the same time the fighting in Dobrudja and in Transylvania, where the Rumanians are on the offensive, is growing more violent. With their Russian allies, the Rumanians are attacking with the utmost vigor, seemingly to prevent the enemy from shifting reinforcements to meet the Roumanian invaders.

No anxiety is felt here for the safety of the Roumanian army in Bulgaria, despite the German official statement that a pontoon bridge in the rear of the invading army has been destroyed by enemy monitors. The fact that the Rumanians were able to transport a large army across the Danube was held to be sufficient proof that they command the river crossing.

Breach in German Lines 8 1-2 Miles Deep.
With the French armies on the Somme, Oct. 4.—The allies have now widened their breach in the German lines on the Somme front over a 45 kilometer front (about 25 miles) to a maximum depth of 16 kilometers (about 8 1-2 miles.)

In the early days of the offensive, the allied attacks were delivered on a front extending from a point north of the Albert-Bapaume highway to a point north of Chaules. The capture last week of Thiepval extended the British attack almost to the Ancre brook. The French reached south of Chaules and captured the village of Chilly.

A heavy rain that hindered operations for two days ceased falling yesterday noon and artillery began lunging up, particularly south of the river.

North of the Somme, the French last night completed the conquest of a German trench between Morval and St. Pierre Vaast wood, taking 300 prisoners south of the river, there was a violent bombardment in the region of Helloy-en-Santerre, but no important infantry fighting.

British West Village from Bulgars.

Salonica, Oct. 4.—Advancing from Karadzakov, British troops yesterday stormed and occupied part of the village of Jenikof, south of the Serez road. It was officially announced today.

The Bulgarians counter attacked three times, losing heavily and suffering a repulse at each onslaught.

'MOGULS' TO IGNORE MCGRAW'S CHARGES

New York, Oct. 4.—President John K. Tener of the National League declared early today that absolutely nothing will be done from his office regarding the charges of Manager John McGraw that the Giants quit in yesterday's game with Brooklyn.

Garry Herrmann of Cincinnati, president of the National Commission, also said that so far as he is concerned nothing will be done by the commission regarding the charges of McGraw that the Giants quit. "I don't want to talk about it," he said.

Gov. Tener's declaration followed an assertion by Garry Herrmann, president of the National commission, that the matter had been held to rest so far as the commission was concerned.

"It looks to me like" an outburst from a man wrought up over the fact that he could not keep on winning with a team which had just finished a run of 26 consecutive victories, Tener said "I do not doubt that" he said harsh things, but every friend of baseball, who knows the national game, will attribute it to the fiery temper of the man who said it. There is nothing to be done from this office."

According to every member of the commission, McGraw's imputation, if true, casts a stain on organized baseball which will have to be wiped out by the most rigid measures.

McGraw lost his temper early in the game between the Dodgers and Giants it developed today. He left the field in the fourth inning when he became enraged by a wild throw made by Perritt. He returned, however, only to leave again in the fifth when a Brooklyn baserunner stole second.

McGraw declared Perritt displayed poor judgment and gross carelessness in taking a full wind up with a base runner on first. His charge of quitting aroused Art Fletcher and Perritt, who gave him the island McGraw rushed from the field in a fit of temper. After the game he declared his players had not given him their best efforts and that he was through for the season. He said they showed a listlessness and indifference in a crucial game which was shameful in a team which had just completed a run of 26 consecutive victories.

McGraw has been manager of the Giants since early in 1902, when he came to New York from the Baltimore club. He has piloted the team to one world championship in 1905 and to five National League pennants in 1901, 1911, 1912 and 1913.

His present contract, which is said to call for a salary of $30,000 a year, still has a year to run. He always has been known as a fighter.

IN FIVE MINUTES NO SICK STOMACH, INDIGESTION, GAS

"Pape's Diapepsin" is the quickest and surest Stomach relief.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, indigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache, you can surely get relief in five minutes.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will understand why dyspepsia, indigestion, sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapepsin" is harmless; tastes like candy, though each dose will "digest" and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many "Pape's Diapepsin" cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and rid yourself of stomach misery and indigestion in five minutes.

HAWAII BANANAS NOW SOUGHT FOR EXPLOSIVE.

Honolulu, Hawaii, Oct. 4.—The big munition manufacturers have turned to Hawaii to supply what is declared a very necessary constituent in the making of explosives by sending to the islands several experts who will investigate the merits of the fiber in the banana stalk, which has been declared rich in potash. The present supply of potash has been found inadequate since the war. A chemist said to have been sent by the British government has arrived at Honolulu, and made extensive analyses of the banana plant. He found that a ton of dried stalks will yield 155 pounds containing more than 13 per cent of potash. This is as rich as kainit, the natural salt from which potash usually is obtained in Germany.

WORLD SERIESING IS THIRTEEN YEARS OLD

New York, Oct. 5.—World seriesing began in 1903. In that year the Red Sox and the Pirates fought it out for the title. The Sox triumphed. The attendance for those eight games went beyond 100,000 and the receipts totaled "over $50,000." It was considered "big stuff" in those days. But the increase in receipts and attendance during the past few years make it appear insignificant.

Here is a little table that shows the names of the competing clubs in all the series, with the total attendance, total receipts and total share for players:

Year.	Clubs.	Games.	Attendance.	Receipts.	Players.
1903	Pirates-Red Sox.	8	100,429	$50,000	(see-note)
1905	Giants-Athletics.	6	91,723	68,445	27,394
1906	Cubs-White Sox.	6	98,815	109,550	33,401
1907	Cubs-Tigers.	6	78,068	101,728	54,939
1908	Cubs-Tigers.	5	62,982	94,976	36,114
1909	Pirates-Tigers.	7	145,236	158,302	66,224
1910	Cubs-Athletics.	5	121,222	173,950	79,071
1911	Giants-Athletics.	6	179,851	312,161	127,310
1912	Giants-Red Sox.	8	251,901	400,440	147,672
1913	Giants-Athletics.	5	150,932	235,090	135,151
1914	Braves-Athletics.	4	111,009	225,732	121,898
1915	Phillies-Red Sox.	5	143,381	320,361	144,899

(Note.—In 1903 each of the victorious Red Sox got $1152 while the losing Pirates got $1316. That was because the 60-40 split system of the present day was not in force. No series in 1904.)

Results in Other Years.
The world series clashes from 1903 to 1915 inclusive—12 in all—show that the American league representatives have won seven plays, against five for the National. The winners were:

American League—1903, Red Sox; 1905, White Sox; 1910, Athletics; 1911, Athletics; 1912, Red Sox; 1913, Athletics; 1915, Red Sox.

National League—1906, Giants; 1907, Cubs; 1908, Cubs; 1909, Pirates; 1914, 1915—5 Red Sox (4); Phillies (1).

*One tie game included.

Peculiarities.
The biggest score ever made in a world series contest was in 1911 when the Athletics beat the Giants 13 to 2. The 1910 Athletics trimmed the Cubs, 12 to 5. The Giants rolled up 11 runs against the Red Sox in 1912 and the Red Sox of 1913 did likewise against the Pirates of that year.

Every game in 1905 was a shutout. The Giants won the first 3 to 0; the Athletics took the second 3 to 0; that was the only game they won. The Giants took the next three 9 to 0, 1 to 0, and 2 to 0.

There have been only six extra-inning games in the 12 years. The Cubs and Tigers played to a 3-3 tie in 13 innings in 1907. In 1911 two extra-inning session affairs were conducted. The Athletics won one, 3 to 2, eleven innings, the Giants got the other 4 to 3 in 10 innings.

Two extended games were played in 1912. The first ended 5-6 in the eleventh on account of darkness. The second was the concluding game of the series. It went 10 innings and the Sox won it—3 to 2—giving them the championship, largely because of that glorious never-to-be-forgotten "E30-000 muf" by Snodgrass.

In 1914 the third game of the Braves Athletics series went to 12 innings. Their "Frank" Gowdy busted it up by smacking out a drive that gave the verdict to the Braves, 5 to 4.

PUPIL WEDS HIS SCHOOL TEACHER

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 4.—He is sixteen. She is twenty-two, they are married and they are happy. Two years ago, when she was twenty, Miss Sadie Patrick, of Arlington, Tenn., came to Memphis and secured a position in the public schools. She had one pupil to whom she became greatly attached. He was James L. Yarbrough, at that time 14 years old.

This fall James was in the fifth grade. Miss Patrick, was again his teacher. School ran along smoothly for a month. Then the principal noted a marriage license had been issued to James L. Yarbrough and Miss Sadie Patrick. He questioned teacher and pupil. They admitted they had been married. The school laws do not permit married women to teach, so Mr. and Mrs. Yarbrough are making their home with the elder Mr. and Mrs. Yarbrough.

Portsmouth, N. H., Thursday, October 5, 1916.

A Seemingly Excessive Sentence.

Considerable stir has been created by the penalty inflicted upon a young Massachusetts man who is a member of the troops on the border for writing a letter to his home paper criticising the rations served to the men. The letter was written soon after the young man reached camp and naturally created a very unfavorable impression at home, causing relatives and friends of the soldiers to feel that they were not being properly cared for. The writer of the letter was court-martialed and convicted. The sentence is six months at hard labor in the army prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., the forfeiture of all pay and allowances, a dishonorable discharge and deprivation of his civil rights.

Under all the circumstances this sentence does seem unduly harsh, notwithstanding the fact that discipline must be maintained in the army if there is not to be chaos. But this young fellow was a raw recruit, totally unfamiliar with army life and conditions, and when he found the bill of fare so different from what he had been used to at home he adopted home tactics and rushed his grievance to the columns of a home newspaper. If made unpleasant reading for the army authorities, who promptly took up the matter, with dire results for the youthful soldier-journalist.

That the writing of such letters from the front, particularly when based upon a misapprehension rather than upon the facts, should not be permitted goes without saying. It was proper that this writer should be reasonably punished, as a corrective in his own case and an example to others, but the impression is that the authorities have gone too far and an effort will be made to have the sentence modified. Congressman Treadway of Massachusetts has taken up the matter and called it to the attention of the secretary of war, and it is probable that steps will be taken to ameliorate the condition of the young man, who was indiscreet rather than criminal in intent. To deprive him of his civil rights in addition to his other punishment would strike the great majority of people as a gross injustice, and it is to be hoped and believed that the military authorities will be induced to take the steps necessary to prevent such an outcome. Discipline in the army there must be, but such a sentence for such an offense as this young man committed smacks too strongly of Kaiserism to be sanctioned by the American people.

The really funny thing in the Massachusetts campaign is the assertion by the prohibition candidate for governor that the fight is between him and the Democratic candidate, Governor McCall, who is up for re-election, not being in the race at all. If the Prohibitionist is correctly reported he has demonstrated his gross unfitness for the office he seeks, disclosing his utter inability to read aright the plainest signs of the times.

From some sections come reports of a trouble with apples called the Baldwin spot. The trouble has made its appearance since the middle of August and is said to be such as to greatly decrease the value of the crop. The trouble is not confined to the Baldwin apple, as might be surmised from its name, but affects other varieties as well. This is unwelcome news, as the apple is one of the most valuable of all fruits.

In some parts of the country women are studying and practicing the canning of soups. But this is a dish that will hardly be improved by canning, and there appears no good reason why it cannot be made as wanted. Nevertheless women are extremely fond of canning things, and perhaps they will go into the winter with better heart knowing that there are a few cans of soup among their other delicacies.

A Doubtful Invention

(Boston Journal)

The British "tanks" whose motor-forts that crawl through the enemy's lines and mow men down with machine guns, are called a failure by the Overseas News Agency. The cars, and its weak spot. Every new invention according to this report, advance only a little in the war has met with the same fate. Five of seven tanks in a military expedition. A war chariot at

A different story is told by the British reports, one description picturing the cars stalled, but still resisting artillery and bomb attacks.

Neither version can be trusted.

The fact probably is that the British army found a new and effective device, which, however, remained effective only until the enemy discovered its weakness.

His Spear May Yet Be Boated into a Niblick
(New York Evening Post)

War is the statesman's game, wrote the bitter poet of 100 years ago, but could he write it now? Would he not have to admit that the statesman's game today is golf? Asquith, Lloyd George, Balfour give it as their favorite recreation.

And American public men simply could not live without it. The links will do for them whatever they want in a physical way. If Taft desires to reduce weight by 100 pounds or so he devotes himself to golf and the thing is done. Hughes comes back from a spending tour worn out and with a "ragged" voice and flies to the links to build himself up. President Wilson counts that day lost when he cannot get in a round to make him forget the cares of office and the curses of his opponents.

Only the Colonel abstains. "Not a man's game" was his contemptuous description of golf. But he may yet be tempted to beat his spear into a niblick. What a sight for gods and men! It would be the Volonol struggling to get his ball out of a deep trap!

The Militia Is Inherited
(Hudson Journal)

The New Hampshire Republicans are guilty of bad strategy in scolding the administration for the "needless mobilization of the militia." The mobilization, whatever faults of management it showed, was not needless. It was so useful that it should have been attempted three years or more earlier.

Nor should Republicans officially condemn this administration for the condition of the militia at the time of the mobilization, unless they add the careful explanation that the militia's normal condition should have been corrected by Mr. Wilson.

The militia as a whole is a mess—the wreck of an experiment in volunteer training and service. But no man or one party is chargeable with the tremendous blunder.

What makes and simultaneously breaks the militia organization is the unnatural process of conducting a volunteer military establishment in a democracy where all men are supposed to bear equal responsibility for the defense of the country.

The opportunity for chastising this administration would come when, after the volunteer system has failed, the government neglected to take steps toward a compulsory system. That failure is now of record. Whether the present administration will remain in power long enough to do that new duty remains to be seen.

Others Are Ashamed
(From the Baltimore American)

Mr. Wilson is ashamed only of the timidity of the American business man in the presence of foreign competitors. There are several things that have happened during his administration of which the American people are ashamed and they will express their feelings at the ballot box.

Unenthusiastic Managers
(From the Cincinnati Times-Star)

The spirit of the Wilson Administration has never been favorable to land preparedness. Under such an administration it might be possible to spend even the huge sums appropriated in the naval bill without considerable return in naval efficiency. It takes enthusiasm for the service, as well as ability and persistence, on the part of the men at the head of a naval organization to produce a really efficient navy.

Woodrow Wilson and Josephus Daniels are at present at the head of our naval organization. Neither of them has any real enthusiasm for the navy, nor much understanding of its spirit and needs. You wouldn't expect a soap factory to be well run if the men in control hated the soap business and everything connected with it—and felt that it was probably better for people to go dirty, anyway?

Others Might Do This
(From the Brooklyn Standard-Union news columns.)

Every Brooklyn member of the National Guard who served on the Mexican border is to be presented with a suitable medal by the citizens of Brooklyn. This was the announcement made in behalf of the Welcome Home Celebration Committee, which is in charge of the reception to the returning troops. By unanimous agreement it was decided the presentation of the medals would be the most suitable recognition of the services of the soldiers, and an incentive to increased recruiting in the National Guard units in the Borough of Brooklyn.

A somewhat similar medal was given to all the soldiers by the city of Brooklyn upon their return from the Civil War in 1865. The design will be that of the seal of the old city of Brooklyn. To pay for the cost of between five and six thousand medals a comparatively large sum of money will be required, but it is felt by the members of the committee the citizens of Brooklyn will be glad to contribute.

Serving Notice
(From the Cleveland Plain Dealer)

Japan announces that after the war is over she will renew her effort to secure for Japanese residents in America the rights commonly enjoyed by nationals of other countries. She will, in brief, attempt to secure the wiping out of the iniquitous California land law, which in effect prohibits Japanese from becoming owners of real estate. Other discriminations against Japanese on the Pacific coast are of minor importance, and may be measures of utility from the standpoint of the American community. The land law is persecution.

There is no warlike threat in the Japanese announcement. It merely serves notice that the mikado's Government is not satisfied to have the discussion left in its present wholly inconclusive state. It is not satisfied with the American assurance that the peculiar Federal system prevents the Washington Government from interfering with California's state affairs. The fact remains that Japanese are victims of unfair and open discrimination, and that this discrimination is contrary to the terms of existing treaties between America and Japan. Renewing the discussion and emphasizing the Japanese position will present a troublesome problem to some American administration of the future—a problem which can best be solved by California's realization that national interests are paramount to state prejudices.

Roosevelt and the Kaiser
(From the Philadelphia Public Ledger)

Few things are more delightful in the biography of John Hay, a statesman who possessed the saving grace of humor, than the way in which he depicts how he and President Roosevelt refused to take the Ambassador's advances of the War Lord too seriously. And yet, as Colonel Roosevelt has just revealed it, when the same brilliant Secretary of State and the same strenuous President in the case of Ambassador von Holleben found they were dealing with an ambassador who has deceived his Government that the United States would do nothing to interfere with the Kaiser's intentions to terrorize Venezuela, the Kaiser had to reverse his policy and the ambassador got his walking papers in quick order. Yet Von Holleben had been the conspicuous agent in fetching Prince Henry over to demonstrate to the world the solidarity of German and American interests, and the prince had scarcely gone before the ambassador followed him.

This resolute action of President Roosevelt brought on neither war nor the threat of it; it merely called an Imperial bluff. Moreover, in getting rid of Von Holleben the country was rid of the man who conceived and was carrying out the deliberate undermining of the old-fashioned loyalty of the German-Americans to America in favor of a hybrid sentiment and fealty which was to take its chief inspiration from Potsdam. Naturally neither President Roosevelt nor any other American then or now objected or objects to the commendable love and regard of American citizens of German birth for the Fatherland. That sort of regard had existed long before the intrigues of Von Holleben began without injuring the quality of German-American citizenship; but his rallying was for another purpose, the results of which have borne evil fruit ever since.

FIFTY-MILE PARADE
OPENS NEW ROAD

St. Clairsville, Ohio, Oct. 5.—A fifty-mile auto parade from Bridgeport, O., just across the river from Wheeling, West Virginia, through Fairview, to this place today celebrated the completion of a thirty-mile stretch of paving across Belmont county on the National road.

The Federal government started to build the National highway to St. Louis a century ago. After the road had reached a point in Indiana, President James Monroe stopped construction on the ground that the work was authorized by "class legislation." Since then the federal government has not assisted the states and smaller governmental divisions to build roads until the passage of the Good Road Act by the last session of Congress.

The new road is the longest continuous stretch of paving in Ohio. Ex-Governor Cox, Governor Willis and J. R. Marker, State Highway Commissioner, led the parade today.

PRELIMINARY HEARING IN THE SMALL CASE

Will Decide Whether Accused Will Be Held or Set Free on Murder Charge.

(Special to The Herald)

Mountain View, N. H., Oct. 5.—When Frederick L. Small was given a preliminary hearing today on the charge of murdering his wife and firing his cottage to hide his crime, six hundred persons crowded into Chandler hall where the hearing was held.

County Solicitor Walter Hull surprised the spectators by the announcement that the state would prove that the piece of cord used to strangle Mrs. Small was a piece of rudder cord of Small's motorboat. He reviewed the known facts and asked that Small be held on the prima facie evidence for the grand jury.

Winfield Chase of Wakefield, a rural free delivery carrier and insurance agent, testified that in September, 1915, he wrote $2000 insurance on Small's cottage and $1000 on the furniture. On Feb. 2, 1916, he was asked the cost of $20,000 joint life insurance on himself and wife.

Before Frederick L. Small left his cottage at Lake Ossipee on the day of the murder he stood in the doorway and said "Good bye." This was the testimony of George N. Kennett, the man who drove Small to the railroad station. Kennett, when he arrived, handed Small some mail, which he either handed to some one inside the cottage or laid on a table just inside the door.

Charles Schaggle, a grocer, believed to have been the last person to have seen Mrs. Small alive, except the assassin, testified as to his visit to the house on the day of the crime and to talking with both Mr. and Mrs. Small in the kitchen. He afterwards talked with Small outside of the house. He then went to a nearby cottage.

Previous to the hearing it was reported that much of the prosecution's case against Small would rest upon the analysis of the contents of the stomach of Mrs. Small. This is regarded as one of the most important features of the case because as far as known the prosecution has been unable to secure any evidence which would tend to prove that Small was in the cottage on the shore of Lake Ossipee at the time when his wife was slain.

The analysis may show approximately the time when Mrs. Small met her death. The contents of the stomach may also show whether the slain woman had eaten anything after her breakfast on last Thursday, the day the crime was committed.

Another person who may figure prominently in the case is Mark Windley of the contracting firm of Windley & Son, here in Mountain View. By a curious coincidence a disagreement Windley had with Small over a contract a year ago was indirectly responsible for the discovery of the crime and the prisoner's appearance in court today.

According to the story told by Windley, he entered into a contract with Small a year ago last June to construct a concrete basement under the broker's cottage for $412. While the work was in progress Windley claimed that Small refused to live up to his agreement and the contract was broken. Small let out the rest of the work to another contractor.

Windley brought suit against the prisoner and the following September was awarded $173.

Windley declared today that if the contract had not been broken, he would have put in a waterproof basement under the cottage and it would not have been possible for water from the lake to have seeped into the cellar and to have formed the pool which saved the upper portion of Mrs. Small's body from the flames and revealed the crime to those who were on the scene when the fire was extinguished.

"THE PRINCESS PAT" AT THE PORTSMOUTH THEATRE

"The Princess Pat," John Cort's production of the Henry Blossom Clotier Herbert comic opera success, with Miss Ruth Welch and recognized cast, comes to the Portsmouth Theatre, Monday, October 9, from its long run at the Cort Theatre, New York. The offering comes with the unqualified approval of metropolitan press and public as being the best musical presentation of the season. A Victor Herbert score can always be depended upon for complete enjoyment, while Mr. Blossom's book and lyrics have never failed in their mission. The story of the opera relates the flirtations of Princess Patricia of Monticello, an Irish girl, who has married an Italian nobleman. By her friends she is called Pat, for short. At a house party on Long Island she is brought in contact with Anthony Schmalz, an elderly millionaire who is about to marry Grace Holbrook; Grace is not in love with Schmalz, but his money will bring relief to the depleted treasury of her uncle, with whom she lives. The husband of the princess has drifted from his untold live making of earlier days, and to teach him a much needed lesson as well as break off the engagement existing between Grace and Schmalz, who induces Bob Darrow, a sort of adventurer, to help her. The two plot to this end and much amusement result from their efforts. The prince is made wildly jealous while Schmalz is planning an elopement with the princess. Everything ends happily however, as it should in all comic operas, and each and every couple are peacefully reunited at the end of the play. Among the twenty numbers in Victor Herbert's score are such popular songs as "Allies," "Make Him Guess," "I'd Like to be a Quilter, But I Find It Hard to Quit," "Love is Best of All," "For Better or for Worse," "Neapolitan Love Song," "I Wish I Was an Island in an Ocean of Girls," "All For You," "In a Little World for Two," and "Two Laughing Irish Eyes." In addition to Miss Welch are cast of principals will include, Eddie Tye, William Dawson, Cliff Stoll, Frank Rose, George O'Donnell, Raymond Ellis, Tota Marks, Ethel Dennison and Ben Hendricks.

Picked for Boston Yard

Captain Charles P. Plunkett is mentioned as the probable successor to Captain William B. Rush as commandant of the Charlestown navy yard. Captain Rush is expected soon to be detached and raised to the rank of rear admiral. He has already served the time commands are detailed to a navy yard and is at the head of the list for promotion to one of the two vacancies existing in the rear admiral rank. Captain Plunkett has been director of gunnery at Washington, D. C.

Ten General Helpers.

One apprentice moulder and two apprentice boiler-makers were called on Monday. Another apprentice boiler-maker is wanted at once in the Industrial Department.

Two More Going To Boston

The U. S. S. Baltimore and Duquesne have been ordered to the Boston yard for docking and minor repairs and will leave the yard about October 10. This makes three ships to go to the Charlestown station that should be repaired here. The reason given is that the long period which the San Francisco was in the dry dock here upset the docking schedule and that the docking program as arranged at present will require the use of the basin for the survey ships until the end of the year. If these statements are correct it shows the absolute and urgent need of another dry dock at this yard. We have been playing for another stone dock larger than the present one and with no prospects of success. Why not start the next best thing and go after a small floating dock to handle the small ships of the fleet. It is true that a move was made to check this repetition of what we have just had by some means or other. The taking of the North Carolina, Baltimore and Duquesne to Boston should be a lesson to those interested in the yard and in Portsmouth.

Apprentice Seaman

Ralph Bryant of Rochester appeared at the yard recruiting office on Wednesday and was examined for apprentice seaman.

Wanted to be a Midshipman

A young man from Kennebunk, Me., recently appeared at the yard recruiting office and wanted to go in the navy. He was much disappointed when he said he wanted to go in as a

BANKERS HISS SENATOR HOLLIS

Danville, Ill., Oct. 5.—Charging that Illinois farmers are paying 25 per cent interest on farm loans, Henry F. Hollis, U. S. Senator from New Hampshire, spoke yesterday afternoon before the Illinois Bankers Association.

He had for his subject the Federal Farm Loan Act, which was passed by the last congress. His statement about the rate of interest in this state was met with a storm of hisses all over the convention hall. Senator Hollis then modified his statement by saying that the bankers themselves were not responsible for the high rate of interest, but the commission men were to blame. He was of the opinion that the farmers could borrow money on mortgages under the new law and pay them off in 36 years at 5 per cent interest per annum.

"That the bankers of Illinois do not take kindly to the Farm Loan Bank act was evidenced during the speech of Senator Hollis. They paid the closest attention to all he had to say, however, and were evidently glad of the opportunity of getting some first hand information regarding some of the features of the new law.

midshipman and the recruiting officer said, "Nothing doing." He was told he could try for ordinary seaman and decided to change his rating. He got as far as the medical board who sent him right back to Kennebunk.

"THE SILENT WITNESS"

Is a Distinct Dramatic Sensation at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston.

"The Silent Witness," Otto Haerbach's powerful drama, that had its Boston premier at the Plymouth last week, starts on its third week next Monday night, October 8. The stay of this play is limited to four weeks and a half. H. H. Frazee, its producer, proposes then to take it back to New York where its prosperous stay at the Fulton Theatre was interrupted to make way for another play that had been booked months ago.

Henry Koller's portrayal of the District Attorney in "The Silent Witness" is one of the best things he has ever done on the stage. It is the district attorney who is called upon to prosecute a boy for murder, the boy turning out to be his own son. One of the big moments in the play is when the district attorney learns the real identity of the boy. Then begins a frantic and successful effort to save him from conviction.

Another occasion in the play that has many thrills for the audience is the "third degree" scene between the boy's mother and the assistant to the district attorney, who is the real prosecutor of the boy. The distraught mother is trapped into making admissions that are harmful to her boy's cause, and with tears she pleads that her son be given a fair chance for his life. Emile Polini plays the role of the mother and finds many opportunities for emotional acting.

Besides Mr. Koller and Miss Polini, some of the others in the cast are Paul Everett, Do Witt Jennings, Miriam Doyle, Amy McCabe, Maud Gilbert, Donald Calisher, David Higgins and Will Gregory. The regular Thursday matinee given at the Plymouth falls on Columbus Day, Oct. 12, for which seats are now on sale.

ENCOURAGES

B. & M. MINORITY STOCKHOLDERS

U. S. Justice in Vermont Hears Explanation and Continues Case.

Rutland, Vt., Oct. 5.—Judge Howe, in the United States district court here yesterday, gave a decision which is interpreted as recognizing and enforcing the rights of the minority Boston & Maine stockholders' protective association in the receivership hearing held here for the past two days.

Judge Howe, after allowing counsel for the association adequate opportunity to explain the situation and to advance reasons why the minority interests should be allowed to intervene in the receivership proceedings, continued the case for a hearing on merits, until action on a like petition in the Massachusetts district is taken.

Meantime, by special order of the court, the association will have full opportunity to be heard on all receivership matters which may come up in this district.

The court expressed the opinion that President Hustis of the Boston & Maine railroad, named as temporary receiver, should not participate in or lead the influence of his office in favor of any form or plan of reorganization; and added that it was willing to make a special order to this effect, if requested at any time, for cause shown, by counsel for the association.

The latter, addressing the court, suggested the appointment of Charles S. Mullen, former president of the road, as permanent receiver.

The court took no action on this suggestion.

Hardly had the cell door been closed on the young woman before she made preparation to hang herself by tying the bed linen in strips, and only the timely arrival of the jailer saved her life. In the morning she was just as determined to end her existence, so a lunacy commission, consisting of Drs. J. Leavitt Cain and F. P. Claggett, was quickly called and they soon decided she was a fit subject for the asylum and Deputy Sheriff E. J. Denning took her to the state asylum last evening.

REPORT MAINE MILKMAN FIGHTING N. H. FARMERS

Hood Company Says Berwick Man Offers to Sell Milk to Them.—Mitchel Fails to Avert New York Famine

Boston, Oct. 4.—The Hood company reported today the receipt of a letter from U. S. G. Osgood of Berwick, Me., a district which has been canvassed by Secretary Pattee of the N. H. Milk Producers Association, declaring that he will willingly sell milk to the Boston Company if they care to accept it. The writer said that he had a small herd of cows but would increase this if the company desired.

This is practically the first case of a farmer or milk producer offering to assist the milk companies in their fight against the milk striking farmers of New Hampshire.

Declares Contractors Are Losing Money in Milk War.

That the Whiting and Hood companies are receiving milk from far distant points which necessitates a transportation rate higher than they can afford to pay, in their effort to "break down" the farmers in their stand for more money for their product, was the claim made today by Secretary Pattee of the Milk Producers Association.

Both sides continue to claim "victory" in the milk fight today. Secretary Pattee claims the dealers here are getting but 50 per cent of the normal supply and that much of that is "stale milk." Representatives of the Whiting and Hood companies on the other hand, say they are getting their full supply.

According to Secretary Pattee, an additional number of farmers have joined the ranks of those who are refusing to send their milk at the 47-cent-a-can rate and are holding out for 50 cents. He received a telegram to this effect today, he says.

Charles Whiting of D. Whiting and Sons and two representatives of the H. P. Hood Company were at the East Somerville milk receiving station of the Boston & Maine today to supervise the receiving of the supply.

Mayor Mitchell Fails to Avert Famine
New York, Oct. 4.—While the paucity of milk began to hurt on the East Side today, Mayor Mitchell, as mediator, tried to stop the up-state milk strike. He had a proposal from the dairymen's league—the producers—to deal with the Big Three distributors, without league recognition, but with the demanded increases in prices under a six months' contract.

Unofficial announcement had it that Mayor Mitchell failed, in his conference today with the distributors, to bring about a settlement.

Meantime the milk supply dwindled rapidly, though some additional came in from new and distant sources.

Over on the East side, where increased prices or shortage first are felt, it was a common scene today to see little children, with pails grasped tight in emaciated hands, begging at delicatessen stores and milk depots for just a little milk so that baby Abie or Rebecca wouldn't suffer. But, for the most part, their appeals fall on deaf ears for the dealers had nothing to give.

Further uptown in the quick lunches, they too, were short of milk.

"Say, boss, has the milkman been around yet?" yelled the man behind the counter in one of these—long past the milkman's usual hour.

"Now," replied the boss, disgustedly, "and you'll be lucky if you see him for several days."

That was the situation all over town. The distributors still looked after hospitals and families with children, but the portion at each home was either seriously diminished or entirely eliminated.

"Night rider" bands of enraged farmers are busy up-state attacking dairies and milk wagons and dumping out milk of other producers who have refused to join the league.

Though the Big Three have endeavored to supply children and hospitals first, they found today that their lists do not accurately show just where there are babies. To remedy this, their agents took a baby census along the routes, and were ordered to see that such places had preference.

Milk drinks practically disappeared from drug store lists, and everywhere the shortage began to be seriously manifested.

TAFT OPENS CAMPAIGN FOR HUGHES ELECTION

(Special to The Chronicle)

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 4.—Declaring that the campaign of 1916 is as important as the campaign of 1896 and resembles that campaign in that the Democratic party and its candidates are seeking a vote of power for disingenuous, unsound, but alluring reasons, ex-President Taft, delivered the opening address of the Republican state campaign here today.

Mr. Taft assailed the Democratic fiscal policy, its extravagance, its free trade tariff, its claim to credit for prosperity and he made a direct reply to President Wilson's defense of his course in settling the threatened railroad strike through the enactment of the Adamson law.

He said in part: "Unwise subservience to the demands of leaders of organized labor finds its crowning instance in Mr. Wilson's dealing with the threatened strike of the Railway Orders of Conductors, engineers, trainmen and switchmen."

"The issue of this controversy is not whether the men were entitled to more pay than they received. They surrender a good and highly skilled service. They may deserve an increase of pay or a reduction of hours. The eight hour day when practicable may be conceded to be a great advantage. The having evil in the result is that by threatening public disaster, a group of men have succeeded in compelling an abrupt surrender of the President and Congress of the principal or arbitration to a peremptory demand for compliance with their wishes, without an investigation or a hearing of a most important issue."

"These men were not in distress such as to prevent their awaiting the delay of arbitration. Whether they were entitled to an increase or not, they are the best paid wage earners in the world, receiving more on the average than ministers, teachers, and other professional men."

"The railway managers agreed that if the matter could be submitted to arbitration, the decision might relate back to September 1, last, and that they would agree to keep the accounts of their employees so that if the men won they would receive their increases from that date."

"What the men demanded and what they have in the Adamson bill, is not a limitation of their labor to eight hours a day, and there is little reason to believe that the men desire to reduce their actual hours of employment. In other words, their demand was for an increase of wages, and the Adamson bill is a compliance with that demand under the threat of a disastrous strike."

"Mr. Wilson, in response to the just and severe criticism of his course in betraying the cause of arbitration, makes defense. He says that he and Congress were moved by their love of humanity and their belief in the benefit to society of the eight hour day, and that they did not act under the duress. It is difficult to speak with patience of the sincerity of such a defense. If the eight hour day was granted to the Four Railway Orders, not because they threatened to strike for it, but because they deserved it, why was it not granted by the same statute to twelve or fourteen hundred thousand railway employees who were not about to strike, and whose terms of employment were much less favorable than those of the threatening strikers? If humanity prompted such legislation, why has it not been projected during the last three and a half years? Why did the Democratic Convention not declare for it? Why did not Mr. Wilson refer to the necessity for such legislation in his speech of Acceptance?"

"For the purpose of evading responsibility for present conditions, it is advanced in behalf of Mr. Wilson and the Democratic Administration that the conditions in Mexico were an inheritance from the last Administration. The last administration did nothing to complicate Mr. Wilson's problems. Huerta had been only twelve days in power when Mr. Wilson came in. Up to that time nothing had been done committing the government to one policy or another."

"We had pressed for American rights with Mexico whose government we had recognized and whose government we attempted to aid by placing the embargo on arms so that importations might not help insurgents and render his control less firm. We did not intervene by force in any way. We pressed demand for compensation for injuries to Americans, and we also pressed for the settlement of two important questions with respect to the boundaries of Mexico."

"Had the Republican administration been continued, Huerta would have been recognized, but with only twelve days before the coming in of a new administration, it would have been entirely improper and inconsiderate for the outgoing Administration to commit the incoming to any policy on the subject."

"Mr. Wilson flouted the necessity for military and naval preparedness and laughed at those who insisted on it as popular nature. Whenever, however, the popular strength of the government in favor of it became clear, he changed his attitude, made a tour throughout the country and called for the greatest navy in the world."

"Mr. Wilson, as a candidate, vigorously upheld the principle of the merit system in the Civil Service, and yet when he became President and was urged not to sign a bill taking out of the classified service all deputy collectors and deputy marshals, he openly defended the change and signed the measure. Deputy collectors and deputy marshals are officers whose political activity, until covered into the classified service, was one of the greatest abuses in the Civil Service. He signed, without objection or protest, law after law creating new offices by hundreds and thousands with special exemption of the appointments from the Civil Service Law."

"Having intervened by threat and force in the affairs of the Mexican people, Mr. Wilson, in his Indianapolis speech, denounced intervention and declared the Mexican situation not to be our business."

"Other instances could be cited, but these are certainly enough to justify the conclusion that Mr. Wilson has few, if any, opinions on the issues of the day which exigency in the field of politics may not induce him to give up. He generally pursues the wise course of never explaining the reason for his change. His facility in this regard is of special importance in his public utterances as a basis for supporting him as a candidate."

"On the other hand, Mr. Hughes is a man whose avowed opinions have always been the guide of his action. I say what the people of the United States know when I say that the chief characteristic of Mr. Hughes is the courage of his convictions in meeting the embarrassment of political opposition."

Baptist and Congregational Churches Uniting

Speaker—Roger W. Babson.

Subject—"Real Causes of Prosperity and Depression."

Roger W. Babson is president of the Babson Statistical Organization, the largest organization of its kind in the world. His plant is at Wellesley Hills, Mass., but he has offices in all the largest cities and correspondents all over the world. Although he is generally known as a statistician, his work has been the study of business conditions throughout the United States and foreign lands. Consequently, he has traveled extensively, especially through South and Central America, where he also has a large business.

In connection with the talk he will exhibit a chart showing the exact business conditions in the United States for all the different months of the past ten years, corrected up to October 1. Mr. Babson has also been asked to give his opinion as to what business conditions may be expected at the close of the war.

Some people have signified surprise that this subject should be taken for a Sunday night service, but we think that every one will be pleased with the point of view from which Mr. Babson tackles the subject. Not only does he show that the underlying causes of business changes are almost spiritual in their nature, but that the same laws govern business as a whole decide whether an individual is a success or a failure. A recent comment on this talk of Mr. Babson's was: "The subject of the talk could well be 'How to Succeed.'" For this reason the address should not only be of great interest to all business men in the city, but also to young people and especially to young men just starting out in the business world. The Bankers of the city are especially invited.

GIRLS' CLUB NOTES.

The Portsmouth Girls' Club will start on its sixth year next Thursday evening, Oct. 12.

Through the forethought of a body of women who were able to look into the future of Portsmouth, a Woman's Realty Company was formed, and the new property on Middle street was bought for a woman's building. The Girls' Club will share with others this new building.

The Home will be open to Girls' Club members on next Thursday evening, from 7.30 to 11. At 8.15 the annual meeting and election of officers will be held.

Committees have recently met, and have planned out a yearly program, also have ready a ticket of officers for the coming year.

Membership is open to all girls sixteen years of age and over, and room will be found for all who will come.

More advantages than ever can be offered the girls of Portsmouth. Now is the time to come, and to make this club one of the finest in the National League. It can be done if the hearty co-operation of all is secured.

VARIED SUITS FOR DAMAGES

Number of Interesting Cases on Docket in Rockingham County.

Several interesting damage suits have been filed recently and are returnable at the coming term of Rockingham county superior court in this city.

Attorney Ralph C. Gray has entered a suit of $500 against Chester Russell of this city in behalf of Antonio Zentell. The plaintiff charges that he was badly bitten by a dog owned by Russell, on August 29 at the Boston and Maine depot.

Suit for $1000 has been entered by Alva Casperlin of Greenland against Carlo Zuzzi of the same town, alleging slander which affected the plaintiff's character, the alleged slanderous statements having been made last June.

Attorneys Harry K. Torrey and Ralph C. Gray have entered suit for $1000 against James H. Dow of this city in behalf of Nellie Spurgin. The complaint alleges that the plaintiff received a broken wrist and other injuries from slipping on ice on the sidewalk in front of Dow's property on Hanger street which had accumulated by reason of a defective water spout on the property.

Moloni Argis of this city has entered a suit for $2000 damages against Roscoe B. Berry of Dover, alleging severe injuries as the result of Berry's alleged carelessness in operating his automobile. Argis alleges that he was riding a bicycle on Vaughan street on June 7 when he was knocked down by the automobile driven by Berry, and incapacitated him for a long time.

HE WAS SOME BIRD.

Stray Rooster on Congress St. Gives Cop and Kids a Lively Chase.

A Congress street business man who sometimes invests in live poultry, purchased several leghorn birds on Wednesday and moved the flock into his place of business where he planned to soon pluck them for eats.

Shortly after he had made the bargain for the birds, the traffic cop at Vaughan street saw a big white rooster walking down Congress street and three dozen kids marching behind him. The cop knew that his birdship was in the wrong place for picking, and attempted to hold him up. Then the fun commenced. Old Hickory began flying around with the cop, store clerks, and kids giving him a chase.

The rooster flew into a group of women shoppers, on automobiles, grocery wagons, in fact he even took to a baby carriage.

After a while his steam went down and he was hushed. In the meantime the owner had counted his flock, and noticing that he was one shy, reported to the police that somebody had plucked one of the leghorns. The cop told him where to find the missing bird and in a short time Old Hickory was in the stew pot.

PEOPLES' OPINIONS.

Calls for Activity for Another Dry Dock

A few days ago we were told that the U. S. S. North Carolina was ordered to Boston for repairs. Now we are informed that the U. S. S. Duquesne and Baltimore are to leave the yard for Boston for docking and repairs. If practicable, the dry dock too would be ordered to Boston and there would probably be no word of protest from around these parts. I suppose that we should be thankful that the reservation is still with us. If the people of Portsmouth were alive to opportunity there would be more than one dry dock at this station. The third class cruiser, U. S. S. San Francisco held up the big basin for several months which left no facilities for other ships needing paint or underwater repairs. It's about time that some live people got together and started something in the interest of Portsmouth. Why doesn't the Navy Yard Improvement Association take this matter up. If officials of this organization and the Board of Trade would do so with the same persistence and determination they display in getting pay increases for high paid draftsmen, clerks and bosses, some-

Miss May L. Staples, agent for the York County Children's Aid Society is in town making the annual collections from members here. Miss Staples comes from Middleford and will continue the work that for so many years was faithfully covered by the late Mrs. Sadie Allen of Middleford. Kittery friends are urged to be as liberal as their circumstances may permit. The work is thoroughly good and unselfish, without graft or big salaries and every cent is put to wise use. Miss Staples will be here today and Friday and next week. Inquiries in regard to the character of the work being done may be made of such reliable persons as we know, like Dr. H. L. Durgin of Elllet, Elmer J. Burdham, Esq., attorney, Kittery; Mrs. Percy Putnam, York Village; Miss Josephine Baker, York Harbor, etc. Last year Kittery contributed $78.77 and unfortunate Kittery families have been well represented in the work of the society.

POLICE COURT.

Mary Atherton, Mary Allen and Willie Clark who were separated from a pink tea party on Charles street by the police on Wednesday night, appeared in court today to answer to the charge of intoxication in the domicile of Mrs. Atherton. While the guests were indulging in the latest dance known as the "dog-walk," the jitter from detention barracks arrived and the affair concluded with a joy-ride for the hostess and her guests. In court the judge heard Willie's short story and imposed a fine of sixty days at the county farm. Willie didn't like it and said, "You may as well make it all winter." "Very well," said the court, "I'll change it to six months," and Clerk Trueman announced the additional vacation. The two Marys took sixty days each with $6.13 costs added.

Jeremiah Denchey, a soldier boy for Uncle Sam was out with a deft on Congress street on Wednesday night and for a weapon of defense he carried a big black tonic bottle. He was going to crown some cop with the nerve receptacle and mixed it up with Patrolman Condon. Jere was not the fighter he thought he was and came out on the short end. It cost him $15.13 today and not having the kule he went upon the Bayville Limited for the county farming colony; there to remain until the harvest days are over.

AT THE BOSTON THEATRES "SO LONG LETTY"

Big Musical Farce Success Coming to Shubert Theatre, Boston.

No musical production of recent years has quite the unique record to boast of as the sensational successful musical farce "So Long Letty," which has to its credit engagements of 12 weeks in Los Angeles, 15 weeks in San Francisco and 26 weeks in Chicago. Oliver Morosco, who gave Boston delightful "Peg O' My Heart," is sending this production to the Shubert Theatre for three weeks only, beginning next Monday, Oct. 9, antecedent to its opening at New York's Shubert Theatre.

When Mr. Morosco first decided to produce "So Long Letty," he promised an evening's entertainment of the highest order, and that he accomplished his ambitious is now theatrical history, as this little gem had a longer run in Los Angeles than the producer's other phenomenal success, "Peg O' My Heart," which only ran 10 weeks.

"So Long Letty" holds the unusual distinction of being a musical play with a decidedly interesting plot. It was written by Mr. Morosco and Elmer Harris and the lyrics and music were written by Earl Carroll. The story is of two friends who want to trade wives, and what happens to them forms a wonderful story.

In the staging, the producer has set a new mark for himself, as the backgrounds are the most lavish and interesting which have yet been bestowed on a Morosco play. The setting were specially made from drawings by Robert Mencklin, and are distinctly in advance of any recently seen on the Metropolitan stage.

For the interpretation of this musical play, Mr. Morosco has assembled an unusually clever company numbering 85. Charlotte Greenwood is featured; the supporting cast includes Sydney Grant, Walter Catlett, May Raley, Frances Cameron, Percy Bronson, Benni Linn, The Cameron Sisters, Minnie How, Winna Baldwin and others. There will be an extra holiday performance Thursday afternoon, Oct. 12, on account of Columbus Day.

NOTICE

Miss S. J. Zoller of Boston removes superfluous hair by the electric needle and will be at Mrs. A. A. Nelson's hair-dressing parlor, 6 Globe Bldg., on October 6 and 7. Please phone appointments there. b 5t s20.

WOMAN FINDS THAT SHE HAS TWO HUSBANDS

Queer Case Comes to Light in This City Today.

A queer situation has developed since the arrival of James Coulter in this city in a hunt for his wife, who he last saw in Montreal before he enlisted in the French army. Coulter comes from Mattapan and after several hours he located his wife, who is living with a family here. To his surprise he found that since he was in the army his wife found out that Coulter was her second husband and that her first husband was still alive.

About a month ago the woman heard rumors that the man she married in July, 1915, was not dead, as she thought, and she addressed a communication to the French government at Ottawa seeking some information. She learned in a short time that the man who she thought died in the trenches was still in the ranks of the French army. Her second marriage took place in Montreal, also, in December, 1915. Her first husband only lived with her but a few days when he was called to the front and it was nearly the same way in her second marriage.

The woman appears to be absolutely honest in the matter and the officers who have been looking into the case believe that she thought her first lover dead when the second marriage came. Husband No. 2 had a talk with her today and could hardly believe the situation until she produced the evidence in her possession. She will remain in Portsmouth and hopes to straighten the affair out in the courts.

The Herald news columns contain some very interesting items today outside of the local happenings.
